

in white corded silk, with pearl trimmings, white roses; the maid of honor was attired in lavender silk. At the reception following the ceremony, wedding cakes were passed by Misses Louise Schaefer, Maudie Torker and Della Barrett. The vows were administered by the Rev. Thomas G. Smith. The couple left on the 11 o'clock train for Ohio, and will be at home after December 6 at No. 209 Fulton street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Collins Surprised.
Last Tuesday evening neighbors and friends to the number of perhaps twenty couples, gathered at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Collins, No. 31 Center street, and surprised them. The well known sociability of this popular couple stood them in good stead and soon everybody was made to feel at home and a most delightful evening was spent. The occasion for the surprise was the thirty-second birthday of the hostess. During the evening the self-invited guests were treated to recitations by Mrs. Norman J. Whitney and Miss Alcumbrack, to songs by Mrs. Emma J. Cawthorne and Mr. Crichton, to musical selections by Mrs. Nora and to a dainty lunch, the contribution of the guests. Pedro entered and held not a few around the table. At 12 o'clock the party broke up, wishing for Mrs. Nina Collins many happy returns.

Macey-Lathrop.
Fred Macey and Miss May C. Lathrop were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Lathrop of No. 472 South Union street, Thursday evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. H. W. Dingley, in the presence of a large number of guests. Waxen tapers were burning on the altar, which was handsomely arranged. After the young couple had received the congratulations of their relatives and friends, they and the assembled guests partook of the wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Macey, after a short wedding trip will be at home to their friends after January 1, at No. 417 South Union street.

Hurrah for Old Yale.
The dinner given by Edwin F. Sweet to the local alumni of Yale college, at the New Livingston, last Tuesday night was a highly gratifying affair. The epicurean and intellectual appetites were both fully satisfied and formality gave way to enjoyment. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Lyman D. Norris, Col. Thaddeus Foster, John Patton, Jr., Ph. C. Fuller, George S. Lucina, Edward Boltwood, Gaylord B. White, J. H. McKee, John T. Miller, C. W. Coit, the Rev. Dr. S. H. Cobb, E. H. Dingley of Kalamazoo, and W. W. Collin of Muskegon.

At Mrs. Folmer's.
Mrs. C. Carroll Folmer and Mrs. Harry C. Angell gave an afternoon reception at the residence of Mrs. Folmer on South Union street Thursday last. The house was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums. Refreshments were served by Misses Wagner, Tallman and Littlefield. The rooms were well filled from 2 o'clock until 6, invitations having been issued providing that a portion of the guests should be present from 2 until 3, another portion from 3 to 4, another from 4 to 5 and another from 5 to 6 o'clock.

Happy Children's Party.
Last Thursday afternoon the residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hosken presented a bright scene, the occasion being the celebration of the fourth birthday of their son. The children hugely enjoyed the delicate refreshments prepared for them by the young host's mamma, the center of attraction being a huge "Jack Horner pie," which contained a souvenir for each child. At 6 o'clock the little guests departed, all wishing the young doctor, as he is called, many returns of the eventful day.

Grand Rapids Remembered.
At the recent convention of the Association for the Advancement of Women, which met in Memphis, Tenn., two Michigan women were elected on its board of directors. They were Emily H.
